State-of-State message

Walker paints gloomy picture of finances

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Painting a grim picture of the state's economy, Gov. Daniel Walker called on the Illinois General Assembly today for help in providing needed services without increasing taxes.

"While recession and inflation beset us on one side, soaring crime rates, environmental problems and energy shortages attack us from other sides," Walker said in his annual State-of-the-State address to a joint session of the legislature.

"Every proposed spending increase must be balanced against the plight of the people—the people paying the sales and income taxes. They must not be asked to pay more," he said.

Walker, who has had a hostile relationship with legislators in both political parties, pleaded for a new spirit of partnership.

Quoting former President John F. Kennedy, Walker said, "The Constitution makes us not rivals for power, but partners for progress."

"I believe that the executive and legislative branches should work together," he added.

Walker urged the legislature to consider before any other program in 1975 his proposal to speed construction projects throughout the state in an effort to create more jobs and stimulate the state's economy.

The Walker proposal, delivered in a special message to the General Assembly Jan. 22, calls for issuing some $4 billion in bonds for the construction of highways, homes, schools, airports and parks during the next two years.

But Walker also urged the legislature to pass an array of measures he described as dealing with the rights of individuals and society.

In brief, Walker asked the General Assembly to:

—Create a new Department of Consumer Affairs and Business Licensing to replace the Department of Registration and Education.

—Pass a law requiring that anyone accused of a crime be brought to trial within 60 days.

—Pass a no-fault automobile insurance bill.

—Ratify the Equal Rights

Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

—Extend voting hours and allow people to register to vote by mail.

—Close loopholes in the state's campaign disclosure law and require lobbyists to disclose fully their activities.

—Place on the ballot a proposed constitutional amendment increasing the number of judges and allowing them to be chosen on their merits.

—Create a joint executive-legislative task force to change the way the state's budget is planned.

—Change mental health laws to provide humane care while protecting individual rights.

In a review of the activities of his administration during the past year, Walker acknowledged making several mistakes.

"It is not customary ... to talk about this area, but I shall. It is there—some bad management, some wrongly chosen people, some poorly executed programs," he said.

Among his mistakes, Walker listed:

—Moving too fast in changing policies and operation of the Department of Children and Family Services.

—Failing to install needed business management controls at the State Fair.

—Failing to recognize quickly the concerns and needs of community mental health agencies.

But despite these mistakes, Walker insisted the general operation of state government was good.

He said state prisons were becoming more habitable, with more professional guards and more one-man cells with hot and cold water, lights and electricity.

The governor said the Department of Public Aid was being run more efficiently, despite the fact that too many ineligible recipients were still on welfare rolls.

He said the Department of Conservation was opening up more idle land for recreational use, that DCFCS had made progress in returning children to Illinois from out-of-state institutions, and that the state Racing Board had made great strides in ridding the sport of scandals.

Walker said the state would have a small balance in its treasury at the end of the fiscal year June 30.

But he warned that state revenues would increase at a slower rate during the next fiscal year and that demands on state revenue would increase.

"We must choose wisely," he said. "We must keep in mind that no matter how deserving any single program is, over 300,000 people are out of work and looking, tens of thousands more are out of work and have stopped looking, the housewife is beside herself with worry ... thousands find their income shrinking."

Ford proposing price floor

Atlantic Coast should share energy burden, says Louisiana spokesman

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A spokesman for Louisiana, a major oil and gas producer, said today it is time for Atlantic Coast states to do their share in providing the nation's energy and not to obstruct drilling off their shores.

The Louisiana position, announced at a public hearing on proposed new offshore leasing, came one day after Atlantic Coast opposition led the Interior Department to withdraw a call for oil companies to propose areas for leasing off New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Ray T. Sutton, Louisiana commissioner of conservation, testifying on behalf of Gov. Edwin W. Edwards, told the hearings: "We in Louisiana are doing our part to meet the national energy crisis. But we can no longer go it alone. We simply ask that other coastal areas begin to do their part."

Meanwhile, White House

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the administration plans to keep oil prices above $7 to $9 a barrel to encourage energy development.

At a news briefing, Nessen said President Ford has made a firm decision to put what amounts to a price floor under petroleum, but has yet to decide on the mechanism, its timing and the exact level of the floor.

Nessen said the Federal Energy Administration will canvass various pricing options while Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger confers with other oil consuming nations on the question.

Assistant Secretary Royston Hughes told a news conference in Washington the Interior Department withdrawal would postpone any action up to five months, awaiting a Supreme Court decision on jurisdiction over the Atlantic outer continental shelf.

Hughes commented Wednesday after announcing that the department had been "pre-mature" in asking oil companies Tuesday to submit nominations for offshore areas they would like offered for leasing.

The reversal came only a day after New Jersey Gov. Brendan Byrne threatened to sue if the request for nominations were not postponed.

Byrne said that under a 1971 agreement with New Jersey the government promised not to seek nominations until the oil ownership suit is settled by the Supreme Court.

The court has scheduled a Feb. 24 hearing, and the Justice Department has requested a prompt ruling — at least before the court recesses for the summer June 30.

The government filed the suit in 1969 against Maine and 11 other coastal states to settle the issue of whether the federal government or the states own oil and gas resources beyond the three-mile offshore limit.

In a statement issued through Hughes, Interior Department Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said that when he requested nominations he was "unaware that representation had been made by the federal government to the Supreme Court that the Department of Interior would not call for nominations before the court's determination in the case ..."

Morton had said two weeks earlier that the nation's pressing need for oil compelled him to disregard the agreement, which was made before a time of serious oil shortages.

Meanwhile, two Ford administration officials said Wednesday that unless the United States becomes more independent of foreign oil, a future Arab oil embargo could "strangle" the United States.

Commerce Secretary Fredrick B. Dent said, "An oil embargo like the one in 1973 would strangle us, because we would have become even more dependent on Mideast oil than we were in 1973."

Dent said he did not intend any connection between his remarks on possible economic strangulation and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's recent statement that the United States might consider using force against oil-producing nations if there is "some actual strangulation of the industrialized world."

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said another embargo would result in "a serious disruption to the economy."

As part of the U.S. goal of lessening dependence on foreign oil, the Interior Department plans to accelerate the leasing of oil and gas rights, opening up previously untouched areas of the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf of Alaska.

Kissinger calls talks with Arabs 'very positive'

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger concluded "very positive" talks today with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on an Israeli withdrawal in Sinai, five hours of "friendly and constructive" talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad, then flew on to Jerusalem to get the Israeli response.

Kissinger said he discussed with Assad details and elements of a just and lasting peace in the Middle East and Syria's "indispensable" role in a final solution of the problem. He also said he accepted an invitation to visit Damascus "when I next come to the area in a few weeks."

Upon arriving from Cairo and before meeting with Assad, Kissinger said of his talks on an Israeli withdrawal from Sinai, "We are still in business."

Privately, U.S. officials said Syria was not opposed to a second-stage agreement between Egypt and Israel and might actually favor another Golan Heights accord.

Significantly, an editorial in the official Syrian government newspaper Al Thawra called for militancy "whether the political endeavors go to Geneva or stay here." Until now Syria has consistently demanded an immediate resumption of the Geneva peace conference.

Kissinger takes his "exploratory" mission to Israel tonight. A senior American diplomat said further significant progress was unlikely before Kissinger returns to the region around March 10. Stopping first in Cairo, he plans to work out the details then of a sizable Israeli pullback in exchange for moves by Egypt toward acceptance of the Jewish state.

U.S. Officials said an agreement would involve a document signed by both Egypt and Israel. But these officials would not go into detail except to hint that one element of the settlement would involve replacing the oil Israel would lose by giving up the Israeli-occupied Abu Rudeis oil fields.

Kissinger is scheduled to confer with the Shah of Iran in Zurich, Switzerland next Tuesday. Iran, which has been Israel's only foreign supplier, apparently would guarantee to make up the losses, with the United States the backup source in the event of an emergency.

Kissinger met with Sadat for about seven hours in a 24-hour stay in Cairo. Newsmen were told that the Egyptian president understands there must be a "quid pro quo" for an Israeli withdrawal. But the negotiations were described as the most difficult Kissinger has experienced in the Middle East.

In a ceremony at Tahrir Palace, Kissinger and Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy signed an agreement under which the United States will lend Egypt $80 million to finance imports of agricultural and industrial equipment, spare parts and other essential commodities. The loans are repayable over 40 years at 2 per cent, with a 10-year grace period.

In a statement at Cairo airport Kissinger said he considered his talks with Sadat to have been "very positive." Kissinger added: "We had a very extensive review of all elements that are involved in peace in the Middle East. I look forward to coming back here in a few weeks."

At the start of his trip U.S. officials said Kissinger would return to the area unless he found that the situation was completely hopeless. These same officials underscored on the flight to Damascus that there are gaps that must be closed before there is a settlement.

Kissinger is scheduled to visit Jordan on Friday, Saudi Arabia on Saturday and then on to Europe, where he is to meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Geneva on Sunday and Monday.

Coffey won't seek re-election

One of two incumbents on the Dixon School Board has indicated he would not seek re-election to the board in the April 12 elections. Thomas Coffey, Amboy, a one-term board member, said he would not run for personal reasons.

Coffey, a counselor at Amboy High School, is serving on the negotiating team for the Amboy Teachers Association.

John Shular, whose term expires this year, remains undecided on his election plans. Shular, an employee of the Department of Transportation, is serving as secretary of the board.

Polls will be open from noon to 7 p.m. at the six grade schools in the district. Petitions for the two three-year terms may be picked up at the central office at South Central School between 8:30 a.m. and noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. The first day for filing petitions for the school board is Feb. 26.

At an adjourned session of the Dixon School Board held Wednesday night, the board scheduled an executive session for Feb. 20 at 3:30 p.m., with their attorneys, to discuss the upcoming complaint filed against the board at the request of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

The suit seeks clarification of the Open Meeting Act as it pertains to the discussion of the setting of salaries for administrators behind closed doors. The action was taken by this newspaper after salaries of Dixon's three top administrators, the superintendent and his two assistants, were discussed at an executive session prior to approval.

The special meeting was called to discuss the Process Approach to Planned Change, a program designed to help administrators cope with change in the educational system in an orderly manner.

Mrs. Hills to be nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will nominate Carla Anderson Hills to be the third woman Cabinet member in history, the White House announced today.

Mrs. Hills, 41, an assistant attorney general, will be named secretary of Housing and Urban Development, said White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Asked whether her sex was a factor in her selection for the $60,000-a-year position, Nessen replied: "It was not."

Her appointment ran into immediate opposition from Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee.

"While Carla A. Hills is obviously an able and intelligent person, she has absolutely no known qualifications, experience or background to become secretary of HUD," Proxmire said.

Nessen countered that Mrs. Hills heads a task force in the Justice Department's civil division which prosecutes housing fraud cases and "does have some knowledge of the kind of problems she will face when she goes to HUD."

Nessen said also that she would inherit a team of assistant secretaries fully familiar with housing.

Asked what she knows about housing, Nessen said, "The President appointed her because she is a highly competent lawyer and an extremely competent administrator."

He said that the President has said he intends to pick the best people he can in his administration, and that Mrs. Hills was the best person available for this job.

Mrs. Ford, who had made it clear she wanted to see a woman in the Cabinet, said after the announcement that she was "thrilled."

Her press secretary, Sheila Weidenfeld, said the First Lady pointed out that Mrs. Hills "had a very successful career and also is a mother of four — which means you can combine both."

Mrs. Hills would succeed James T. Lynn, who was sworn in as director of the Office of Management and Budget on Feb. 10.

Suspect arrested after chase in Amboy area

A high-speed chase with Lee County Sheriff's Deputies Wednesday night ended with the arrest of John R. Lewis, 22, Rt. 2, Amboy, on multiple charges. Lewis was trailed by deputies at speeds in excess of 110 miles per hour as he attempted to elude authorities on country roads near Amboy, deputies said.

The chase began at the intersection of Ill. 26 and Amboy Rd., where deputies confronted two persons asleep in their car. Upon questioning the men, later identified as Robert Grennan and Edward Grennan, deputies learned their car developed mechanical problems and they decided to wait for help.

Deputies called for a wrecker to tow the car from the intersection; however, before the wrecker arrived, Lewis drove to the scene and offered to start the car with jumper cables. Deputies said Lewis was informed of the wrecker being called and that neither Grennan was in any condition to drive a car.

Ignoring the deputies, Lewis pulled his auto alongside Grennan's in an attempt to start the car. Soon after the wrecker arrived Lewis was told by deputies to move his car or he would be ticketed for improper parking.

With that, Lewis got back into his car along with the Grennans and the three sped off, heading east on Amboy Road. Deputies took chase, following the car to Walton Road, where Lewis turned north. Entering Walton, deputies turned on red lights and siren, attempting to curb the Lewis car.

At that point, deputies said Lewis accelerated and, leaving Walton, turned east on Sterling Road. Deputies radioed ahead to an Amboy squad car, giving a description of Lewis' 1974 Chevrolet and asking for a roadblock on Sterling Road.

Slowing for the roadblock, deputies said Lewis turned his headlights off and drove into a ditch, going around the squad car parked across the pavement. Lewis then turned south on Morgan Road with both squad cars following.

Lewis continued south on Morgan, driving through a stop sign at Amboy Road, reaching speeds in excess of 110 miles per hour. The chase continued as Lewis turned his car off Morgan Road and east onto Maytown Road toward Sublette. Passing Sublette, Lewis turned north onto U.S. 52, going toward Amboy. A second roadblock utilizing three squad cars was set up two miles south of Amboy; however, Lewis turned off onto Searls Road, evading the roadblock.

Deputies lost sight of the car on Searls Road, apparently after Lewis turned the headlights off on his car.

Calling in additional cars, police set up surveillance in a large area around Amboy. A short time later, deputies spotted Lewis riding in another car through Amboy. That car, driven by Steve Daniels, Amboy, was stopped and Lewis placed under arrest.

The search then continued as deputies attempted to locate the Grennans, who were not in the car with Daniels.

Traveling to the Grennan home, deputies learned the two were let out of Lewis' car in Amboy and Daniels picked them up, taking them (Grennans) home.

Next deputies went to Lewis' home, where they found the car driven during the chase parked in a barn. Lewis' father told deputies his son had returned home shortly before and, after placing the car in the barn, left in another car.

Lewis was transported to the Law Enforcement Center where he was being held this morning on charges of reckless conduct, reckless driving and fleeing police.

2 former Rock Falls players accused of making objectionable calls to coach

ROCK FALLS, Ill. (AP) — Two former Rock Falls High School basketball players were charged today with disorderly conduct involving allegedly objectionable phone calls to their now-suspended coach.

Meanwhile, the coach, John Tierney, asked the Circuit Court to lift his suspension ordered Tuesday night by the Board of Education.

Police said the two players,

Daniel Garman and Anthony Johnson, both 17, made the phone calls from the home of a friend Sunday.

Tierney's suspension came after the recent walkout of 11 varsity players in protest against his coaching tactics.

During Tuesday night's board meeting, Tierney described the phone calls to his home as obscene.

The two player were released with notice to appear in Circuit Court at a later date.

Named temporary coach Wednesday was Dwayne West, the school's frosh-soph coach.

Tierney's submitted resignation at the end of the season was rejected by the board Tuesday night. The board ruled Tierney could continue as a physical education and driver education teacher.

Congress not treating S. Viet as neighbor

By RONALD REAGAN

If your neighbor's barn was on fire, you'd want to get him a fire truck, not a watering can, to help put it out.

Congress doesn't see it that way when it comes to supplying South Vietnam with the supplies and materials needed to survive the attempted takeover of that country by North Vietnam.

Last year, the administration requested $1.5 billion in military aid to South Vietnam.

This wasn't out of line, considering our commitment in the Paris Accords to keep the South Vietnamese resupplied on a one-for-one replacement basis.

In light of North Vietnam's build-up, even that amount might have fallen short of keeping our ally stable in weapons, ammunition and equipment. Since mid-1973 the North Vietnamese have ignored the important resupply provision of the Accords.

With heavy supplying by both the USSR and China, the Communist government of North Vietnam has exceeded the amount of war material it had at the time of its country-wide general offensive in mid-1972. That offensive was halted and reversed only after President Nixon ordered the mining of Haiphong harbor and the resumption of military bombing in the North.

Although the President's $1.5 billion request represented the minimum needed for South Vietnam to hold its own, the 93rd Congress reduced this amount, first to $1 billion, then to $700 million. Now, in the face of a huge Communist buildup of tanks, troops and artillery, we are resupplying South Vietnam at half the rate it will need to survive.

As a result of the current Communist offensive, the South Vietnamese are using ammunition at a rate that could see their last round spent by March.

One provincial chief in the Mekong Delta said that during the 1972 offensive his troops were able to fire 15,000 rounds of artillery a day. Today—even though the Communist offensive is concentrated in the Delta to a great degree—the figure is down to 1,000 rounds a day.

Farther north, the commander of an airborne division says that the fuel shortages he has encountered have forced a reduction in flying time of his 250 aircraft by two-thirds.

On-the-scene observers from the American Conservative Union noted, "For the first year-and-a-quarter following the cease-fire the South Vietnamese troops were able to hold their territory and outposts. In the last two months, as a result of inadequate supplies, they have withdrawn from dozens of outposts. Dozens of others have been overrun."

No such cutbacks have hampered the North Vietnamese. They have improved and enlarged the Ho Chi Minh Trail network that runs south through Laos and Cambodia and along the western border of South Vietnam. Supplies come south in an endless stream, both for the current offensive and for stockpiling.

Prior to the cease-fire U.S. air power destroyed nearly all the supplies en route. Today, nearly all reach their destinations.

With adequate supplies, the South Vietnamese have proved that "Vietnamization" works and they can defend themselves without the participation of American troops.

Now, President Ford has asked Congress for a supplementary appropriation of a relatively modest $300 million for more material for the South Vietnamese. This could be a matter of life or death for the little nation.

If some of the leadership of Congress persists in its ostrich-like stance toward Southeast Asia and blocks the appropriation, we may see the irony of a Communist victory in Indochina, not because of Communist popularity or military superiority, but because we failed to honor our bargain with our ally.

A word of warning from the Treasury

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As secretary of Treasury, William Simon presides over 105,000 federal employees whose task it is to print and issue the people's money, collect the people's taxes and pay some of the people's bills. It is a bureaucracy of unprecedented influence in the lives of every man, woman and child in the Republic.

Thus it is that when Simon begins worrying about the present enormity and future potential of "government's control of its citizens," as he often does when his feet are on his desk and his mood turns reflective, it should be remembered by his listeners that his office and agency are the personifications of his gripe. There is an ironic bit of the pot calling the bottle black when the money czar, who can help or hurt the citizenry with a single word, idealizes that Americans "are dominated and their initiatives stifled by federal power."

Nonetheless, his point is inescapable. The nation that was founded on the premise that a government which governs least governs best has evolved into a land where government is the single largest industry, employer, spender and strength in the society. Simon says one of every six jobs in America is now governmental (15 million employees) and the bureaucratic payroll of $140 billion is the fattest in the world.

More disturbing than this, though, is the incalculable almightiness of the force. Government this year is perilously close to spending $1 billion a day, or some 34 per cent of the gross national product, and by the year 2000, Simon says, the bureaucrats may be spending one of every $2 earned in the country.

The influence of this is well known to most. The government now has a form of cradle-to-grave domination of its constituency's existence, most people work at least one day a week (some two) for Washington, and business, says Simon, has been largely forced to trade its "economic freedom to the government in exchange for financial security."

It could be argued here that William Simon is a lousy spokesman for less influential governments, his current policy designed to put Americans at least $85 billion more in public (governmental) debt in the next 18 months. Yet philosophically at least, he embraces yoke lifting. He opposes gas rationing as a conservation method, for example, not so much for the hardships it would impose on some people, but because of the greater governmental power it would create.

"Can you imagine the scope of the bureaucracy gas rationing would bring about? We have estimated that it would take 20,000 full-time employees, 40,000 local post offices and 3,000 state and local boards to oversee rationing. When we consider the problems of just getting the mail delivered, are we really ready to trust an army of civil servants... to decide who deserves just what of this basic commodity?"

No doubt, as Simon knows, some people are ready to trust the civil servants. The bureaucracy, after all, has staged no coup to gain control over the lives of Americans; it has done so peacefully, indeed even at the connivance of many citizens no longer confident of their own initiatives. And this is the heart of the matter, as Simon sees it, how to re-educate the people to the wisdom of Socrates who noted that a society may not know it is dying until it is too weak to care.

Simon hopes that government reform, in areas such as tax reform, may reverse the trend of power in the nation. But that is over-optimism. The responsibility instead lies with the citizenry. A man who ran into Simon recently at an airport had the right idea: "When you return to Washington," he told the secretary, "please don't do anything more for me—I can't afford it." That man said it for the majority.

Ethiopian bombing

Less than four decades after a simpler generation of Americans was outraged by the bombing of Ethiopian villages by Italian dictator Mussolini's air force, American-made jets are being used to level Ethiopian villages.

This time it is Ethiopians bombing Ethiopians—or rather the central government attempting to put down insurgents in the breakaway province of Eritrea.

It is essential to our national interest that Ethiopia be armed with American jets. If the Eritreans succeed in becoming independent, it will be in our national interest to arm them, too. To the teeth.

If there are Martians, no doubt when we land on their planet we will find it in our national interest to shower them with weapons. To the tentacles.

Credit program no place in politics

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is a proposal in Congress, sponsored by some of its most influential members, which would funnel credit to specific industries if approved.

If one looks only at the surface, the concept has great intellectual appeal. Too little of the nation's cash is going into those industries which must be expanded if the unemployed are to be put to work and the shortages which lie behind much of our inflation are to be eradicated. It sounds proper to channel funds away from "speculative" to "vital" industries such as housing, farming and power generation.

This is an economic boobytrap of immense proportions.

It is clear we need more housing, but some of the more arrogant speculation of the past decade has been in homes, apartments and land.

The farmer does need aid so that he may, with reasonable profit, reach the production levels we require of him in this day of shortages. But here again, speculators have moved in to achieve some spectacular abuses of government assistance programs.

The brownouts of some recent years are convincing proof the utility industry must expand more rapidly. The oil shortage obviously requires investment of capital to shift from oil-burning to coal-burning power plants, with reasonable but costly provisions for protection of the environment. But there is also a strident battle raging over what types of power shall be favored—conventional or nuclear. The danger is that allocation would favor one over the other for emotional rather than technical and economic reasons.

Who then is to make the determination of where the channeled money goes? Congress? The administration? Some bureaucrat down the line?

In the absence of war, how does one decide on priorities?

These are problems the nation's leading economists have wrestled with in vain.

If Congress decides the priorities, as is likely, the answer will be political. Those industries favored will, if recent history is any guide, tend to be those promoted by the stronger pressure groups—those with money or with the best publicity apparatus. Rulemaking by the executive would be no better. The enforcement of regulations would require a host of inspectors, regulators and attorneys, many of whom would have their own interpretation of regulations and end up working at cross purposes in this most complicated field.

The Russians have demonstrated the failure of central planning monitored by a combination of bureaucrats, economists and politicians. The USSR's experience has been that central channeling of resources becomes increasingly counterproductive as the economy advances and grows highly sophisticated.

The secondary effects are so widespread and so impossible to calculate accurately that monstrosities result.

There is no question that individual bankers, other money lenders and investors make many mistakes, some atrocious. These men are subject to the same biases, pressures and influences as congressmen and officials. They have some curious customs which make no economic sense. But our protection here lies in the diversity of our money markets. To a remarkable degree, the biases and other foibles balance out.

In the end, fund allocation would mean a hefty financing of marginal companies in the "vital" industries. It would also mean political decisions on how much capacity is needed in each field. Inevitably, we'd end up building many uneconomic plants, guaranteeing high costs for many years.

U.S. to regulate futures

CHICAGO (LENS)—President Ford is now considering nominations to the newest federal agency: the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. The commission of five will start work in April backed by a staff of 500 and legislation from Congress that gives it wide discretionary powers to regulate the country's 12 commodity exchanges for the first time.

Since the turnover on these exchanges topped $500 billion last year—a far greater sum than that of the stock markets—the new commission is expected to become in time as powerful as the Securities and Exchange Commission.

It will have its work cut out. Since 1971 the volume of commodity trading in America has doubled to 27 million contracts a year, in nearly 50 products as diverse as frozen pork bellies, silver, grains, orange juice and, most recently, gold. But much of this trade has been completely outside federal control.

Trade in domestic commodities is already loosely regulated, but only by an inadequate commodity exchange act that was mostly written in 1922 and has little bite.

The new commission, by contrast, will have a powerful range of armaments. It will be able to levy fines of up to $100,000 on commodity traders, and will have absolute discretion in approving the rules under which all exchanges operate.

For the larger exchanges like the Chicago Board of Trade, which does 52 per cent of the nation's commodity business, the new commission will be little threat. But many of the smaller, more speculative exchanges will be forced to revise their standards: in 1973 an exchange in California went under leaving debts of nearly $70 million, and last year Congress was upset by the open attempts by some speculators, led by the Texan oil magnate, Bunker Hunt, to corner the New York silver market, one of those at present free from regulation.

The commission is expected to prevent markets being cornered in future by setting strict limits to the number of contracts a speculator may hold in any one commodity. It will also keep close watch on brokers' trading, and see that the cash put up for margin requirements is deposited in segregated accounts.

Not surprisingly, many traders and speculators are afraid that this regulation may choke off the free market. They claim that the commodity exchanges are the last hunting ground of naked capitalism. They are probably right. But the commission's business is to encourage a broader public to invest in commodity futures by making it safer to do so.

The scope for tempting the small investor into commodity trading is enormous. There are more than 100,000 speculators in the markets already and the stockbrokers Merrill Lynch now have revenues of $40 million a year from their commodity commissions alone. But the markets have long needed to be removed from the domination of the big trading houses.

One of the first problems the new commission will consider, to squeals from the trading houses, is whether the same firm can trade for the public while taking speculative positions for itself. The conflict of interest is obvious, yet, at the moment, permitted.

The commission will report directly to Congress. None of the five men to be nominated is likely to have existing ties with the commodity exchanges, and the present jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture under the 1922 act will end; the department was itself accused of leaking inside information to some of the major trading firms about the highly profitable Russian wheat deal in 1973.

It was this deal and the spiralling prices of all commodities that first attracted the interest of Congress, which suspected that inflation and high food prices were being fuelled by the rush of speculation on the commodity exchanges. Ironically the commission starts at a time when prices are tumbling and speculators are now being blamed by farmers and the primary producing nations for accelerating the fall.

The decisions of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission will have a deep impact on other international commodity exchanges, none of which has yet been brought under effective public control. If the commission does its job well, much of this international futures trading will be lured away from its traditional center in London. The markets in Chicago and New York have more to gain from the commission than they fear they might lose.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

Warren Walder, representing the Dixon Chamber of Commerce Schools and Education Committee, also secretary of the Dixon Board of Education, and Donald Abens, manager of the chamber, will attend the Illinois State Chamber's legislative meeting for local chamber of commerce leaders Tuesday in the Hotel Leland in Springfield.

—O—

Mrs. Frances Reeverts, Lee County Home Adviser, will discuss "Drugs and Their Uses" as the major lesson for Wednesday's meeting of the Dixon Afternoon Homemakers Extension Unit.

50 YEARS AGO

At noon today Dixon appeared to be destined to suffer from a flood condition probably much worse than that of three years ago. A gorge which formed between the Illinois Central and Galena Avenue bridges was raising the stage of water quite rapidly.

—O—

All theatre-goers and the public in general enjoy amusement. At the American Legion vaudeville to be held in the Dixon Theatre on Feb. 19 the public can be assured that they will see more for the money than at any show they could attend.

Dream car entangled with legal battle

DALLAS (AP) — It looked for a time like the Great American Dream: a car which would do 70 miles to the gallon and sell for only $2,000. But the dream turned into a nightmare for hopeful investors when the law stepped in.

A tough-talking widow from California turned up in Dallas to announce she had the answer to the energy problem with a two-cylinder, three-wheeled auto which would start rolling off the assembly lines by summer.

Just one week later, Elizabeth Carmichael and her 20th Century Motor Car Corp. found themselves banned from doing further business.

When criminal charges rapidly followed, Mrs. Carmichael disappeared along with seven of her accused fellow company officials.

Two other company officials surrendered to authorities immediately and five of the seven who fled surrendered in Los Angeles on Monday. Mrs. Carmichael was still being sought.

The men who surrendered Monday appeared at police headquarters in connection with grand theft charges filed in Dallas. The five also were served with a summons to appear Feb. 20 in Los Angeles Superior Court to show cause why they should not be permanently enjoined from further sale of stock options and dealerships in the company.

Legal actions against the company have piled up since the fatal shooting Jan. 22 in 20th Century's Encino, Calif., offices of the firm's publicity man, William Dale Miller, a 37-year-old ex-convict from San Francisco.

Elizabeth Carmichael, a 42-year-old, 6-footer with red hair said she was ready to throw down the gauntlet against the Big Three of Detroit. She said they had not given the American public a free choice in cars since Henry Ford introduced his Model-T.

She said her efforts already had been met with sabotage, threats to her employees and harassment from state officials she said she believed to be on Detroit's payroll.

"But we can handle it," she said. "We're going to knock the hell out of them."

She said dealers were being appointed for 30 states and that deposits on orders for the first cars were coming in at such a rate that she expected the first year's production of 88,000 to be sold in advance.

"Frankly, I never would have thought people would buy a car without driving it first," Mrs. Carmichael said. "But apparently they will."

Dealers were required to pay $35,000 to $75,000 for a franchise. She said Pan-Marine Products of Tokyo bought the Japanese distribution rights for $1,085,000. She said the company was negotiating with a subsidiary of Caravan International of Alberta for the Canadian market.

When 20th Century first began operating in California last year, news of its wonder car, the Revette (then called the Dale), spread quickly across America.

The National Observer carried a front-page story of 2,500 words. The Atlanta Constitution ended its article with "Good luck, Mrs. Carmichael." There were articles in U.S. World News and Report, the Washington Star-News, the Boston Globe.

A sign that all was not well with 20th Century came at the middle of last week.

A judge's restraining order halted the firm's operations and appointed a court attorney to keep the company records and assets intact pending further action.

It was said that the sales pitch for the Revette — and for two larger models to follow later — made no mention that two similar restraining orders had already been issued against the company in California. Instead of remaining to fight them, the business had been largely moved to Texas.

It was further claimed that neither the car's efficiency nor its performance had been proved. Purchase options and dealerships had been sold when, in fact, necessary financing and parts did not exist, it was charged. A postal inspector who visited the location of the company's California plant at Burbank said he found the buildings vacant.

In Dallas, Mrs. Carmichael operated from rented offices on LBJ Freeway and said she was negotiating for the unused Ford plant in the city and hoped to give employment to 9,000 workers. A spokesman for a firm occupying part of that plant said no negotiations were in progress.

Mrs. Carmichael said six prototypes of her three-wheel Revette are in existence and have been displayed at auto shows in Chicago and Los Angeles.

She also said she had driven one of them into a brick wall at 60 m.p.h. to test its super-tough plastic body. She said the body was made from a material developed to protect the nose cones of American space vehicles during re-entry.

A newsman found the only prototype in Dallas, hidden away in what she claimed was the company's research and development laboratory: an empty warehouse. Two mechanics were working on the transmission, which she said had been damaged when a plane flying in from California struck turbulence.

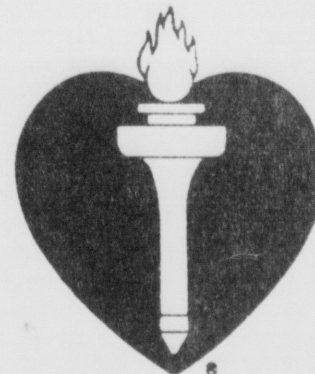

The two-passenger, streamlined prototype, 14 feet, 8 inches long, resembled a small Ferrari or Corvette. The engine was in back and the 10-gallon gas tank in front.

One engineer who saw the car described it as "a load of junk," cannibalized from an engine of a type usually used for portable generators, with two lawn-mower carburetors and a borrowed transmission.

He said he doubted it would either attain the top speed of 85 m.p.h. claimed for it or get 70 miles to the gallon. As for hitting a brick wall at 60 m.p.h., it would just disintegrate, he said.

Check those miscellaneous items on tax returns

"Don't pay more tax than you owe" is good advice, and a fair amount of knowledge of the correct rules in filing federal income tax returns usually pays off for the average taxpayer, says Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

The following miscellaneous tax items could affect the amount of taxes you pay and should not be overlooked.

For instance, you have the opportunity to "average" income for tax purposes if you had a big jump in income in 1974, including income from capital gains, waging, or gifts or inheritances. And in so doing, you can get a lower tax bill. The privilege applies if your 1974 adjusted taxable income is at least $3,001 greater than 120 percent of your average income for the preceding four years.

Example: If your average income for 1970-1973 was $18,000, you need adjusted gross income of $24,601 in 1974 to qualify for averaging benefits (120 percent of $18,000, plus $3,001).

The 50 percent maximum rate on earned income can be used as an alternative to averaging one's income. Under this election, the law permits an individual to use a tax rate ceiling for his earned income — wages, salaries, professional fees and other compensation for personal services. Under the ceiling, such income is taxed at not more than 50 percent (which contrasts with the highest possible tax rate of 70 percent). Thus, only high-income taxpayers benefit — a single person with earned taxable income over $38,000, a married person (joint return is necessary) with earned taxable income over $52,000, and a head-of-household taxpayer with earned taxable income over $38,000.

For smaller taxpayers, a point should be noted for medical expense deductions. Don't overlook the fact that the law permits one-half of medical insurance premiums for the taxpayer, his spouse, and dependents, (with the total deduction limited to not more than $150 per year) to be deducted outside of the three percent floor on other medical expenses. Also, don't forget that transportation expenses essential for medical care — for example, the cost of bus, train, taxi fares and gas, oil, parking fees, etc. — are deductible medical expenses. Instead of asking your actual car operating expenses, you can take a standard mileage rate of seven cents for each mile you use your car for medical purposes (parking fees and tolls may be deducted in addition to the even cents per mile).

Another item worth checking is the timing of loss deductions. Casualty losses by fire, storm, shipwreck, and the like are usually deductible only in the year they occur. A loss by theft, on the other hand, is generally deductible in the year it is discovered, not when the theft actually took place. But disaster losses (from floods, hurricanes and the like) rate special treatment if they occur in areas subsequently declared by the President to be disaster areas. In such case, the taxpayer can take the loss either on the return for the disaster year or on his preceding year's return. Often the disaster will also affect the taxpayer's income in the loss year. Thus, under the option, he can take the loss in the previous year when his income was higher, although not in excess of the loss that would have been deductible in the taxable year in which the casualty occurred.

While it may be stretching things a bit to label it a "miscellaneous" tax item, the tax break available when you sell your old residence and buy or build a new one, is one of the biggest individuals. If you sold your residence and bought a new one within a period beginning one year before the date of the sale and ending one year after the sale, the gain, if any, will be recognized only to the extent the "adjusted sales price" of the old residence is more than the cost of the new one.

The adjusted sales price is the amount realized (selling price less expense of sale), reduced by the total of expenses for fixing up (within 90 days before the contract of sale) the old residence in preparing to sell it. These "fixing-up" expenses must be paid within 30 days after the date of the contract of sale in order to qualify.

The new residence must be used as your principal residence within one year after sale of your old one, unless there's new construction. If you build your new home and start construction at anytime before or within one year after sale of your old residence, and you use it as your principal residence within 18 months after sale, the nonrecognition-of-gain provisions apply to all your capital expenditures.

Grange meeting

PAW PAW—The Paw Paw Grange members met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shaddick, Paw Paw. A scramble supper preceded the business meeting. There were nine members in attendance and they voted to donate $500 toward the Community Building in Paw Paw, and discussed the planning and building of a float in the Compton Area Historical Parade on July 13.

The card party sponsored by the grange is Saturday at 8 p.m., to be held at the East End Sportsmen's Hall, Compton.

The sewing, needlework, and patchwork pillow contest is now in effect. For more information on this contact Mrs. Vernon Rhoads, Compton; Mrs. Shaddick and Mrs. Vernon Merriam, Paw Paw. Mr. and Mrs. Harland Cantlin will host the March meeting, at 7 p.m. March 7.

Elevator meeting

SUBLETTE—The 56th annual meeting of the stockholders of the Sublette Farmers Elevator Company was held recently in the Sublette Community Building.

Reports read showed the company experienced a fairly good year. The seven directors serving the past year were all re-elected for another one-year term. They are: Charles Leffelman, Peter Dinges, Joseph Schuhler, Joseph Henkel, Clement Henkel, Glenn Angier and Ralph Roemmich.

At the organizational meeting Charles Leffelman was re-elected president; Joseph Schuhler, vice president, and Peter Dinges, secretary.

Lunch was served after the meeting.

Hope to speak

ROCHELLE—Featured speaker and soloist for the Monday meeting of the Rochelle Christian Women's Club will be Roy Hope, Eden Prairie, Minn. Hope has appeared in over 600 concerts over the past three years in the Midwest and his records are enjoyed in homes and heard on radio stations across America.

A special feature by the "Colonial Flower Shoppe" will also be presented.

Reservations are necessary for the noon luncheon to be held at 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the Concord Room of the Vagabond Resort.

Meet the candidates

ROCHELLE—A "Meet the Candidates" night has been scheduled for Feb. 18, at 7 p.m., at the Central School gym.

The program, allowing the citizens to meet and question the candidates seeking city offices, is sponsored by the Rochelle League of Women Voters and the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce.

Floyd Beinfang, a member of the Chamber's Congressional Action committee will act as moderator.

Fund-raiser

POLO—The Senior YF members of the United Methodist Church will be serving food at the high school on Friday evening and Saturday as a means of raising money for the proposed trip to the Red Bird Mission this summer.

The food will be served during the district wrestling tournament at the Polo High School.

BIG cars, little cars. You'll find 'em all on these pages.

Names officers

ROCHELLE—Officers of the board of directors of the newly formed "Big Brothers of Rochelle" have been named by the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce.

Vincent Carney has accepted the position of chairman, with Floyd Beinfang as vice chairman. Mrs. Jack Nink will serve as treasurer, while Mrs. Laird Willson will act as secretary. The organization will be incorporated for release of liability reasons.

"Big Brothers of Rochelle" is hoping to start with a dozen boys in the age group of 8 to 16 and match them with Big Brothers. This will afford the youngsters who have no male figure in their home life to identify with a companion and also to share problems that are a part of everyday living.

The Big Brother program of Rochelle will also give these youngsters the opportunities to share in activities which may, with their present home circumstances, be impossible.

The Big Brother's board of directors is requesting individuals who would like to serve as a Big Brother, to pick up an application at the office of the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce.

Many boys' names have already been submitted for the program and a definite need is to match as many of these boys with a Big Brother.

Award ceremony

ASHTON—Last Friday an award ceremony was held at the Ashton High School.

Student of the months for September, October, November and January that received awards were George Kersten, senior; Jill Kurth, junior; Scott Warner, sophomore; Lori Harris, freshman.

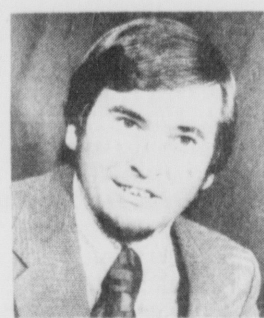

Football letters were awarded to seniors, Ed Edheck, Norb Dunkel, Keth Miller, Gary Miller, Kerry Winkle, Don Kenney, George Kersten, Galen Elch, Rob Richardson; juniors, Mike Pfeiffer, Curt Dusing, Mark Heinrich, Jeff Meiners and Andy McCannon.

Cross Country letters were awarded to Mike Caldwell, Gary Kofoid, John Martinez, Ed Baylor, Steve Krug, Joe Williams and Mike Townsend.

Hackbarth-Manon marriage vows

MR. AND MRS. STEVE W. MANON

Marriage vows were exchanged recently in St. Paul Lutheran Church by Miss Debra Ann Hackbarth, daughter of the Earl Hackbarths, and Steve Walter Manon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Manon.

The Rev. William Swarbrick, pastor of the church, officiated, and nuptial music was provided by Crawford Thomas, organist, and Mrs. Robert Hill, soloist.

Decorations

Bows of white satin were attached to the sanctuary pews, and the church altar held twin arrangements of white pom-poms.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of imported white organza trimmed with sequin-embroidered Chantilly lace and ribbon accented the gown's empire bodice, which featured a high neckline and bishop sleeves, and her floor-length skirt was styled with a detachable lace-trimmed train. Scalloped lace bordered her chapel-length illusion mantilla, and as she approached the altar with her father, she carried a nosegay of Jack Frost roses, pink Elegance carnations and baby's breath tied with white ribbons.

Miss Ellen Cavanaugh, maid of honor, and the attendants, Mrs. Richard Auth and Miss Jane Manon, were attired in full-length lilac gowns designed with tapered sleeves ending in wide cuffs of purple velvet and scooped necklines edged with Peter Pan collars of matching velvet. Their empire bodices, encircled by waistline ribbons, topped flared A-line skirts, and their nosegays combined pink Elegance carnations, baby's breath and clusters of purple ribbon.

An identical lilac and purple frock was worn by the flower girl, Miss Krista Hackbarth, niece of the bride, and she also carried a nosegay of pink carnations and baby's breath.

The rings were carried on a heart-shaped pillow of white satin by Mark Masters.

Mr. Manon's best man was Lorin Karge, Bloomington; serving as groomsmen were the bridegroom's brother, Kenneth Manon, Harvard, and Frank McKeel, and ushers were Gary Hackbarth, Malta, and Michael Burrs.

The Dixon Elks Club was the setting for a reception following the service when lilac and white streamers trimmed the bride's table. A four-tiered decorated cake topped by figures of a bridal couple, was served by Miss Debbie Baker and Miss Mary Smith, and coffee and punch were poured by Mrs. Kenneth Manon, Harvard, and Mrs. Edward Reglin, Amboy.

The reception was catered by Mrs. Ray Levan, and acting as hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hackbarth, Mt. Morris, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Reception music was provided by Lynn Cuddy and the Buccaneers.

A 1973 graduate of Dixon High School, the bride was employed at the Lee County Nursing Home prior to her marriage. Her husband, a 1971 graduate of Dixon High School, attended Sauk Valley College for two years, and he will receive a degree in May at Illinois State University in Normal, where they are presently residing.

Rehearsal Dinner

The bridegroom's parents entertained 25 guests at a dinner in their home following the wedding rehearsal when the table was centered by a bouquet of violet and white pom-poms, and assisting the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hodges and the Donald Wolfs.

Prenuptial parties honoring the bride included a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Lee Fazzi and Mrs. Lester Levan. A shower was also given by Mrs. Elmer Hodges and Miss Patty Hodges, and an additional shower was arranged by the honoree's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Hackbarth, Mrs. James Hackbarth, Mrs. Richard Hackbarth, Mrs. Harry Hackbarth and Mrs. Gary Hackbarth.

Miss Hartle, John Nagy are engaged

MISS DEBRA HARTLE

The engagement of Miss Debra Lynn Hartle to John Nagy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nagy, Dixon, is announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stover, Dixon.

Miss Hartle attended Sauk Valley College following her 1973 graduation from Dixon High School, and she is currently employed by the Dixon Home Savings and Loan Association.

Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Dixon High School, attended Bradley University, Peoria, for two years, and he is enrolled as a senior majoring in accounting at Illinois State University, Normal. He is presently serving his accounting internship with Clifton, Gunderson and Company, Kewanee.

Their wedding is being planned for Aug. 23.

Miss Albert to be bride of John Lally

MISS DIANA ALBERT

LINCOLN— Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Albert, Lincoln, announce the engagement of their daughter, Diana Lynn, to John Patrick Lally, Bloomington, son of Mrs. Patrick V. Lally, Sublette, and the late Mr. Lally.

Miss Albert graduated in 1971 from Lincoln Community High School, and she is now enrolled as a senior at Illinois State University, Normal, where she is majoring in special education for the deaf.

A 1968 graduate of St. Bede Academy, Peru, and a 1972 graduate of Illinois State University, Mr. Lally is employed by the State Farm Insurance Company as a data processing specialist.

A September wedding is being planned by the engaged couple.

Miss Bechel, David Remour are wed in Oregon church

OREGON — Arrangements of white daisies and pink carnations decorated the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the recent marriage of Miss Talene Fay Bechel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Bechel, Oregon, to David A. Remour, son of the John Remours, Mascoutah.

The wedding was performed by the Rev. Armin G. Weng, and Mrs. Jonas Martin served as organist.

Bride's Attire

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white polyester organza over satin. The gown's lace-trimmed skirt, accented by a chapel train, was topped by a Victorian bodice featuring a ruffle-edged yoke of Chantilly lace and seed pearls, a high lace collar and tapered lace sleeves. Her full-length mantilla of illusion bordered with lace was attached to a contoured lace and pearl headpiece, and the gold locket she wore was a gift from the bridegroom. The nosegay she carried was formed of white daisies, pink roses and baby's breath.

She presented her mother a long-stemmed white rose as she approached the altar, and following the exchange of vows, she presented an identical rose to the bridegroom's mother.

Mrs. Val Reed, matron of honor, and the attendants, Mrs. Lynette Smice and Mrs. Jodi Meyer, wore identical gowns of magenta polyester trimmed with ecru lace. Fresh daisies and lace formed their head-dresses, and their pink-flower necklaces were gifts from the bride. Their flowers were nosegays of daisies, pink carnations and baby's breath.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Rick Meyer, and participating as groomsmen were Paul Behan Jr., and Joel Baylor. Wedding guests were ushered by Robbie King, Chana, and the bride's brother-in-law, LeRoy Smice.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the church fellowship room when the refreshment table was centered by a three-tiered cake decorated with pink and white daisies, and foliage. The cake, flanked by pink candles in candelabra, was served by Mrs. Rozann

MR. AND MRS. DAVID A. REMOUR

Groenagen, aunt of the bridegroom, who prepared the cake. She was assisted by Cathy Greenfield, Mt. Morris, and punch and coffee were poured by Ruth Mongan, Chana; Charlene Millman, and Trudy Bauer. Guests were registered by Susan Kazenas, Mundelein, and in charge of the gift table were Karen Bechel, sister of the bride; Meta Paskiewicz and Ruth Carothers. Souvenir pink and white rice packets were distributed by Cindy Kazenas.

The new Mrs. Remour, a graduate of Oregon High School, is employed as a computer operator for Progressive Graphics, Oregon, and her husband is employed as a welder for Wood Brothers, Division of the Heston Corporation, Oregon.

Since their return from a wedding trip to southern Illinois, the newlyweds have been residing on Rt. 2, Oregon.

Parties A wedding rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents in the Oregon VFW Club, and prior to her marriage the bride was guest of honor at a shower given by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Justina Remour.

Additional showers were arranged by her attendants, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Meyer, and by Mrs. Delores Kelly and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Kate Groenagen.

Dear Ann by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a frequent traveler who is becoming increasingly irritated by the hand luggage inspection in airports. I missed two planes because I had to stand in line while strangers poked around in my purse, examined my shopping bag and even unwrapped gift packages. Not only is this annoying but I'm sure if a smart lawyer looked into it he (or she) would discover it violates some constitutional law that has to do with invasion of privacy.

Please respond in print, Ann. Thousands of others must feel as I do. — Irked Lady At La Guardia.

Dear Irk: Sorry about the inconvenience, but here are the facts: Since the airport security checks began in 1973, 66,000 guns and knives have been taken from passengers and more than 3,000 people were arrested for carrying drugs and weapons. Not one successful hijacking has been pulled off in the United States since November of 1972.

I'd say the security checks have proven to be well worth the inconvenience. So cool it, Toots, and give yourself an additional 30 minutes to get to the airport so you don't miss another plane.

Dear Ann Landers: You said recently that you'd keep on giving advice until you or your typewriter fell apart. This letter is to let you know that if your typewriter gives you any trouble, please let me know. My parents gave me a beautiful new electric model for Christmas and I would gladly send it to you if you need it.

I'm a high school senior who grew up reading your column. You taught me many things and saved me from making some big mistakes. It was spooky how many times you came up with the answer to a question that was bugging me that very day. We like what you stand for, Ann Landers, and want you to stick around for a long time to come.—Seventeen And For You

Dear Seventeen: Your letter is so nice I'm almost ashamed to print it. But I do want to thank you for your generosity. You made my day.

Dear Ann Landers: Do all working couples have this problem or is it just us? My husband does manual labor. I do office work. Vic goes to work at 5:30 a.m. I always get up to prepare him a big breakfast and I fix his lunch-box. Since I don't have to be at work until 8:30 a.m. I hop back into bed for an hour or so after he leaves. Vic resents this terribly and says, "All you do is sleep." Actually, I do the marketing, cooking, cleaning and laundry, as well as put in 40 hours a week at my office job. But he still thinks I have a cinch and keeps telling me that he works much harder than I.

Every evening after supper Vic reads the newspaper and falls asleep in front of the TV. After I finish the dishes I sometimes join him. If I should doze off he wakes me up immediately and demands an explanation as to why I fell asleep. "What have YOU got to be tired about?" is the way he puts it. What's the matter with him anyway? Or am I wrong? — Boise Boob

Dear Boise: The guy probably feels guilty because you are working harder than he is, and he knows it. Just add up those hours spent on marketing, cooking, cleaning and laundry and tack them on to your 40 hours a week in the office and you'll get the picture, baby. ## How to beat two losing finesses

By Oswald & James Jacoby
As the poet might have said, "The man who's worthwhile is the man who can smile, when all his finesses go wrong."

In a recent team match one South smiled when he looked over dummy. Then he called for the queen of diamonds. East took his king and led the jack back.

This wiped the smile right off South's face. Eventually he had to lose the spade finesse and his contract.

Any more smiling at that table was done by the opponents.

The other declarer saved his smile for later. He studied the opening lead carefully and then called for a low diamond. East won the trick and could do nothing better than lead back a spade.

South went right up with his ace; cashed one high trump; played king, ace and a small club; ruffed high; entered dummy with the king of trumps; ruffed another club; drew West's last trump, and claimed his slam since the ace of diamonds was an entry to allow a discard of the spade queen on the last club. 13 (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Xi Beta Upsilon Chapter meeting

Members of Xi Beta Upsilon Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, were guests of Mrs. Paul Lawson and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Elvin Wikoff and Mrs. John Sagnoe, Tuesday night when Mrs. Lawson, chapter president, read a communication from Beta Sigma Phi International Headquarters.

Letters were also read from Thomas Densmore and Gov. Dan Walker.

Mrs. Robert Benson reviewed the chapter's "Gray Manual," and Mrs. James Feroio presented a program on "Bantu Africa."

She also showed a movie depicting the culture and traditions of the Cuna Indian Tribe.

The next meeting was planned for Feb. 25 with Mrs. Jesse Morris, 629 Sterling Ave.

Meeting for Questers chapter

Mr. and Mrs. George Kobler recently entertained the Questers Club Hi-You-He-He Chapter at a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Kobler, president.

The National Questers' Convention was announced for April 27-30 in Springfield, and it was also announced that Mrs. Kobler had been appointed to serve on the nominating committee to select new state officers. She has also been selected chairman of a spring convention for the Fox River Division, which includes the Rock River Valley.

Attending as a guest was Mrs. Henry Whisenand, and the next chapter meeting was scheduled for Feb. 27 with Mrs. John Sagnoe.

Polly's Pointers

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I have read of many household uses for pure lemon oil but in my area I can only get concentrated lemon oil. Can anyone tell me what to mix with it to make it usable on furniture, tile, etc? — LORAIN.

DEAR LORAIN — I am not familiar with the concentrated lemon oil and hope someone who is will write us about it. For years I have used a lemon oil furniture polish (quite inexpensive, too) that says on the label it is made from refined natural oil. This is applied to make a thin film and left about 15 minutes. Then the excess is removed with a soft cloth. Rub with the grain in the wood until no oil is visible on the surface. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is about our local newspaper. They do not print Polly's Pointers every day as I think they should. I recently won a Polly Dollar but was unable to see my Pointer in print. It was supposed to appear on a Thursday and our paper has the column only on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Can anything be done by your office about this? I am annoyed. — ALICE.

DEAR ALICE — Thanks for your interest in the column and I am sorry there is nothing we can do about your Pet Peeve which really should have been sent to the editor of your local paper. Naturally, I, too, would like to see it appear every day. — POLLY.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea. Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Art of pickpocketing left to only a handful

CHICAGO (AP) — The scamps who graced the novels of Charles Dickens, the pickpockets, may be a vanishing breed. At least the skillful ones, says a Chicago police investigator.

"There are only about a half a dozen pickpockets in Chicago who are any good," Lt. Robert Casey said in an interview. "They're oldtimers who can go in the inside, suit-jacket pocket."

"We don't arrest them very often, and when we do it's tough to get them convicted. They go after the out-of-towners because they know the victims won't stick around to prosecute them."

No figures are kept on pickpocketing, which is a felony in Illinois. But the job isn't so easy these days, he said, mainly because of more tightly fitted clothing and public awareness.

Muscle and violence also have replaced skill and dexterity in the crime, which differentiates the pickpocket from the purse snatcher, said Casey, the head of the First District Tactical Unit in downtown Chicago.

"Purse snatching is a teenage crime mainly in the ghettos," he said. "It's also not the work of a thief as much as a man who's broke, takes a purse, and runs."

Women are the most frequent victims of pickpockets, particularly during the Christmas season and winter, he said. Department stores, airline terminals, bus stops, and train stations are the usual havens and $15 is the typical score in addition to the victim's credit cards, he added.

The Chicago Police Department disbanded its pickpocket squad in 1961, but the tactical units investigate when a outbreak occurs.

Casey recalled such an outbreak in Chicago that might rival those in Dickens' "Oliver Twist."

In September 1973, Casey's unit arrested 42 Colombian nationals for conspiracy to commit crime.

Some of those arrested confessed that they were part of an operation involving 300 pickpockets and confidence artists who were trained at a crime school in Bogota and given new identities as Puerto Ricans in San Juan.

EILEEN McCaffrey has been named Amboy High School 1974-75 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Eileen won the honor by competing with other seniors in the written knowledge and attitude examination on Dec. 3. She is now eligible for state and national honors and will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the annual educational scholarship program. Eileen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo McCaffrey of Rt. 2, Dixon, plans on attending college in the fall. She has been named an Illinois State Scholar winner and is an active member of the National Honor Society, Girls Athletic Association, vice president of the Future Business Leaders of America, and participates in Pep Club and Swing Choir.

Sauk course set in tonight in Polo

POLO—A Sauk Valley College extension course in conditioning for women will begin today and will continue every Thursday night for eight weeks, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Polo Community High School gym under the direction of Miss Ardenne Kominic, high school PE director.

The participants are requested to bring shorts and gym shoes or suitable clothing for exercises. The cost will be $14 per person.

Vision, hearing and educational testing for children ages 3, 4 and 5 will be held at the United Methodist Church on Monday, from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1 until 2:30 p.m. Parents may register their children by calling Mrs. Alice Cassens at 946-2128.

Polo Lions Club is providing volunteer help for the program. Ogle County Early Childhood program will do the educational testing and the Illinois Department of Health will do the vision and hearing tests.

Visitors need place to stay

ROCHELLE — Looking ahead to the Farm Progress Show to be held on the Willert farm in Malta on Sept. 31, and Oct. 1 and 2 of this year, the Sponsoring Organizations Management is looking for housing for visitors attending the show. All area motels in a 50 mile radius were filled within hours of the announcement of the 1975 Farm Progress Show location.

Individuals who would be interested in renting out rooms in their homes are asked to call the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce. Information as to the type of room and cost is needed by the Chamber so that a list can be compiled to match visitor needs.

Spectators from all parts of the United States and the World will be attending the Farm Progress Show and Rochelle as a community would like to accommodate as many visitors as possible.

Woman driver given ticket

A two-car accident Wednesday on Peoria Avenue resulted in a traffic citation for a Dixon woman. Investigating Dixon Police said a car driven south on Peoria by Marjorie E. McCoy, 36, 1107 Fourth Ave., turned left into the path of another southbound car driven by LeRoy F. Saunders III, 20, 916 Logan Ave. The McCoy woman was attempting a turn into Commercial Alley at the time of the accident. She was ticketed for making an improper turn.

Driver pays fine of $350

Patrick T. Zollars, 36, Rochelle, was fined $350 Wednesday during an appearance in Lee County Circuit Court. Zollars pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of reckless driving. He was charged with driving while intoxicated by State Police on Jan. 4.

Mayor Kenneth McCracken, Fire Chief Ken Spitz and the aldermen accompanied the representative on a tour of the area inundated in the flash flood in May 1974. Mautino pledged his help to get any possible assistance in alleviating the problem. State Senator David Shapiro also has been working on the problem and recently informed Mayor McCracken the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad plans to place an additional five-foot tube under the tracks at North East Avenue. ## All ups, few downs in Yo-Yo business

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — What goes up and down like a Yo-Yo when business goes down and up?

Why, the Yo-Yo business, of course. And in these times of recession, the nation's largest Yo-Yo company is doing a booming business. "When times are tight, they don't have the money to buy basketballs, but they do have the money to buy Yo-Yos," explained William Reck, comptroller of Flambeau Products Corp., parent company of Duncan Yo-Yos.

"In relation to the economic statistics of the country, we do know that when the economy is on the decline, sales increase," Flambeau President William Sauey adds, "It's not a craze item. Kids and parents buy more of them in hard times. It offers more play value for the dollar than any other toy."

Reck said the company controls about 85 per cent of the U.S. Yo-Yo market, with annual sales of $12 million to $18 million. The firm turns out about 100,000 Yo-Yos a day. He said that during a recession, the company commands even more of the market, "and that's exactly what we're experiencing now."

Duncan Yo-Yos, first produced in the 1920s, now come in 10 colors and seven models ranging in price from 89 cents to $2.50. The $2.50 Yo-Yo lights up as it swings.

Included among those honored is James Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Dunn, 320 E. Jackson St., Ohio.

Dunn is a sophomore mathematics major. He is active in the publication of the campus newspaper and is a member of the choir.

Dottie Dixon's Diary

Eighty students have been named to the Dean's List in recognition of academic excellence during the first semester of 1974-75 at Illinois College, Jacksonville.

Price Barnes, principal and teacher of Ashton Elementary School gave a report on the new legislation in school transportation and outlined steps to be taken to implement these guidelines.

A total of $20 has been the fee set for the judges for the school board election to be held on April 12. Two vacancies are to be filled. The final filing date is Feb. 28.

According to police, Dixon entered the apartment and told Becky Holloman that he was waiting for Reyes to return. While in the apartment, Dixon reportedly emptied a can of beer and the contents of an ash tray onto a living room couch.

The Holloman woman then left the apartment and Reyes later returned and signed the complaint. Dixon was brought to the Law Enforcement Center where he posted bond and was scheduled to appear in court Feb. 27.

Two youths were arrested Tuesday by Ogle County Sheriff's Police on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Jeffrey A. Messer, 17, Polo, and Anthony L. Stone, 17, Oregon, were accused in an incident involving a 16-year-old rural Oregon girl.

Both Messer and Stone were being held in Ogle County Jail and were scheduled to appear in court today.

BONANZA QUALIFIERS

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Martha A. LaFata of St. Charles, Mo., won $300,000 today in the bonanza drawing of the Illinois lottery. Grace A. Nelson of Wooddale won $50,000.

Mrs. LaFata, 19, is married just four months and is a bank teller in St. Charles.

The petite blonde said she wants to buy a house with her winnings and raise a family.

Her husband, Joseph, works for a manufacturing firm in O'Fallon and was not present for the drawings.

Mrs. LaFata attended the drawing with her brother, Don Morgan, 22, also from St. Charles.

She grew up in a family of six brothers and one sister.

Asked why she traveled to the drawing site, she said, "I just figured a $1,000 was worth traveling anywhere for. That's a lot of money. The minimum winning for a bonanza qualifier is $1,000."

She said she and her husband would have used the $1,000 for a trip to Florida.

Mrs. LaFata is used to handling money in her job, but said that when she appears at her bank Friday $300,000 richer, "it will open up a few eyes."

She said she recently received a raise putting her salary to $415 a month, but added she hasn't decided whether to keep on working.

Mrs. LaFata telephoned the news to her husband, and had a tough time convincing him she won.

"No, I'm not kidding, it's right here, believe me," she said.

The winner of the $50,000 prize, Mrs. Nelson, is a 58-year-old receptionist and medical assistant for a physician.

Her husband, Walter, was recently laid off as director of industrial relations for a bicycle manufacturing firm.

It was the husband who learned first that he was suddenly married to a wealthy woman.

"I couldn't believe it," Nelson said.

The couple has three children, all grown.

Emerson Garman

POLO — Emerson E. Garman, 54, Rt. 1, Lena, died Wednesday evening at Freeport Memorial Hospital, following a short illness.

He was born Dec. 18, 1920, the son of Edward and Gladys (Brantner) Garman, and was united in marriage to Hazel Johann on Aug. 21, 1937, in Mt. Morris.

Garman was preceded in death by his parents, one son and one brother.

Retiring radio operator at Rochelle honored

By BURDETTE RENICH

ROCHELLE—Helen Middleton... presented in recognition of loyal and dedicated service to the Department, Community and City of Rochelle.

Those are the words on a plaque presented to Mrs. Scheltz (Helen) Middleton, Rochelle's first woman Police Department employee, at a farewell dinner hosted by the officers and their wives Monday night at the Rochelle Fire Station.

Helen, as she is known to all, came to Rochelle with her husband, who had been transferred from the Swift and Co. plant in Des Moines, Iowa, to Rochelle, in 1967.

In October of that year she was hired to "man" the police radio and desk in the small, crowded police office in the city's old building. The move to new and larger quarters in 1970 meant a change for Helen. There was the new large control board to keep in touch with the men, a Leeds machine, which meant time for schooling, and mostly more work. Helen, always pleasant, always willing, and always helpful, took the move in stride.

Sometimes acting as matron, always willing to listen, she managed to keep in step wherever she was needed. The years have gone by all too swiftly, but Helen broke the barrier and opened the door for other women employees.

She will be missed, her steady, even voice coming out over the monitor, sometimes with a slight sigh, especially after a heavy day, but never wavering or showing stress, calling a needed ambulance, a wrecker, or getting the men at the scene in any emergency.

There is much that could be written of her daily life as Rochelle Police Department's first woman radio operator. Helen doubts if she will stay retired very long. A new home, in Stuart, Iowa, the town of her birth, and being near her family and old friends, will take up some of her leisure time; but Helen will stay idle just so long, and we're sure she'll be back at some sort of work, with people, so we say 10-4... we'll miss you.

Two treated after crash

COMPTON—Two persons were treated and released from Mendota Community Hospital Wednesday, following an accident on a curve a half mile south of Compton on U.S. 51.

A car driven by Roy Archer, 81, Compton, was northbound on the curve and an auto operated by Kathryn Cunningham, 60, Peru, was southbound when both vehicles went into a skid on icy pavement and struck head-on.

The Archer auto came to rest at the bottom of an embankment and damage to it was $300. The Cunningham vehicle sustained $800 damage.

Later, Howard Demort, 46, Mendota, parked his car off the side of the roadway while State Police investigated the accident. Demort's car was struck from behind by an auto driven by Francisco Salinas, 25, Eagle Pass, Tex.

Salinas was arrested for having no driver's license.

Speeding fines half of town's revenue

HARTSBURG, Ill. (AP) — A part-time policeman using radar equipment provides this tiny central Illinois town with its biggest single source of income.

Drivers speeding through Hartsburg, population 363, were fined $19,000 in 1974, more than half of the amount Mayor Fred Ritterbush said is needed to run the town for a year.

"Everybody seems to think we're out for the money, and we aren't," Ritterbush said in an interview. "Our prime concern when we hired the radar patrolman was to make the street safe for the schoolchildren who have to cross it, for churchgoers and for the farmers taking their grain trucks to the elevator."

"The street" in Hartsburg is a half-mile stretch of Illinois 121.

The speed limit in town is 45 miles per hour, but Ritterbush said patrolman Roger Shane generally allows drivers a 10 m.p.h. leeway. This means drivers going the legal maximum of 55 m.p.h. on Illinois 121 could sail through Hartsburg without slowing down.

Ritterbush said Shane works irregular hours.

"We could put a man out there 24 hours a day and make even more money. But that's not what we're interested in. We just want to make the streets safe," Ritterbush said.

Town clerk Wayne Coffey said Shane has done a good job since he was hired about a year ago.

"We had a few accidents where people were pretty mangled because someone decided he wanted to fly through the town. There hasn't been a major accident since Shane was hired," Coffey said.

The mayor said Shane normally parks his marked police car in an abandoned gas station lot several yards off the road, with his radar equipment trained on a spot halfway through town.

Ritterbush said $18,996 in fines were assessed between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1974. Part of that money went to pay Shane, who gets $15 an hour.

The mayor said Hartsburg's second largest source of income in fiscal year 1974 was the city's $12,247 share of the state sales tax.

He said without the fine money, the town could survive, but with it "we were able to buy a few small items we couldn't have purchased otherwise."

Ritterbush said his patrolman has stopped several speeding legislators, immune from tickets while on their way to and from sessions of the General Assembly in Springfield.

But some have complained to Rep. Jack Lauer, R-Broadwell, who represents the Hartsburg district. Lauer, who said some motorists have been ticketed for going two miles per hour over the limit, is sponsoring a bill which would require patrolmen like Ehane to receive special training.

"I don't want to be unfair to small communities who are worried about speeders. I just want laws enforced uniformly throughout the state," Lauer said.

Prairie workshop is scheduled at Lorado Taft campus

Prairie preservation and restoration and roadside management have become topics of concern and action among a growing number of citizens throughout northern Illinois. To meet needs for understanding procedures, involvements and techniques, a Prairie Workshop will be held Feb. 28 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and March 1 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Northern Illinois University's Lorado Taft Field Campus, near Oregon.

Co-sponsors are: The Department of Outdoor Teacher Education (NIU); the Environmental Association of Illinois, Zone II; and the Roadside Committee of the Audubon Council of Illinois.

The Feb. 28 program will feature "Preservation and Restoration of Native Plant Life on Roadsides" as presented by Dr. John W. Thomson, Botany Department, University of Wisconsin, Madison, and Mrs. Olive (John W.) Thomson, member of Dane County Natural Beauty Council, Mt. Horeb, Wis. Equal time will be allocated for open discussion and questions.

The March 1 Prairie Workshop will include: Review of kinds of prairies in northern Illinois; introduction to a wide variety of technical topics ranging from seed collecting through planting methods and management; ways of protecting existing prairie remnants; helpful organizations and ecological and educational implications. Prairie experts will be on hand to field questions, engage in open discussions, and combine and analyze the information.

Conferees primarily concerned with the March 1 workshop are encouraged to attend the Feb. 28 program. A $2 lodging rate can be obtained by bringing sleeping bag or sheets, blankets, pillow case, and towel. The dormitories are comfortable and individual room provisions are available for a limited number of married couples.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

To Jeanette Kastner, today.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to all our friends, neighbors, relatives, Pastors Wm. K. Burgess and Carl E. Myers and the Dixon Church of the Brethren for the many acts of kindness shown to us during the loss of our loved one.

The Family of Bertha Butterbaugh

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all those who sent cards, food, remembrances or offered their services in our time of loss and sorrow with the passing of our Husband and Father, Champ Bixler. A special thanks to Rev. Lindner and the people of the Chapel Hill Funeral Home and our friends and neighbors. May God remember your kindness and compassion, for we all will.

The Champ Bixler

Howlett to seek advice on bugging devices

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett says he will ask legislative leaders what to do about the four electronic bugging devices operating somewhere within Illinois' capitol complex.

The devices were detected when Comptroller George W. Lindberg hired a team of "de-bugging" specialists to sweep his offices and apartment in Springfield.

Their exact location is unknown and Lindberg's security chief said Wednesday that finding them would be difficult and expensive. The sweep arranged by Lindberg cost $1,500.

Howlett's office is in charge of maintaining the state buildings within the capitol complex, an area which includes the principal offices of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of state government.

Offices of private organizations and a luxury apartment building where some state officials and legislators live also are located within the area.

Although a spokesman for Howlett said Wednesday that "the only sweeping we're responsible for is the kind you do with brooms," the secretary of state said he would discuss the situation with legislative leaders.

And if the General Assembly provides the money to have the capitol complex checked regularly for bugs, Howlett said he would do so.

Roger Nauert, Lindberg's security chief, said the search for the comptroller was conducted Feb. 8 by Kirby and Associates of Oak Park.

He said the electronic equipment used for the check picked up four separate signals from bugs operating nearby, but Lindberg's office suite and apartment were free of listening devices.

U.S. Atty. Donald Mackay said he was unaware of any court-authorized wiretaps or surveillances in the area.

Nauert said his office would make no attempt to determine the precise location of the listening devices since they did not affect the comptroller.

"That's not our business. We've made this public now, and anyone who is concerned about his privacy can have his own check made," he said.

Nauert said that while it would be relatively easy to determine whether a particular office was being bugged because of the strength of the signal, an attempt to find the four bugs would be difficult.

"It would be a lot like operating a geiger counter," he said.

"You'd just have to walk around in a three or four block area trying to determine where the signal was strongest. It would be quite a job."

Nauert said the detected listening devices operated like tiny FM radio stations, broadcasting conversations to nearby receivers.

He said it was likely that those who planted the bugs were monitoring them from within the capitol complex itself, although he added that the signal from one of the four was strong enough to be picked up as far as a mile away.

A spokesman for the governor's office said the Department of Law Enforcement had checked for bugs there before, but he declined to say if anything was found.

At said election the Circuit Judge of Lee County, Illinois, will submit to the legal voters the question of annexing the territory to the Dixon Community Fire Protection District of Lee and Ogle Counties.

The purpose of said election shall be to determine whether the area will be added to the Dixon Community Fire Protection District of Lee and Ogle Counties pursuant to a hearing held on January 31, 1975, in the Lee County Courthouse on the prayer of a Petition filed on January 8, 1975, requesting the annexation of the territory to the Dixon Community Fire Protection District of Lee and Ogle Counties.

The poll will be open at 6:00 A.M. D.S.T. and will close at 6:00 P.M. D.S.T.

The polling place will be the Sales Office of the New Landing for the Delta Queen, R.R. 4, Dixon, Illinois.

Each legal voter resident within the proposed area to be annexed shall have the right to cast a ballot.

Voters must vote only at the one designated polling place.

The Question will be submitted by a separate ballot in substantially the following form:

(Front of Ballot)

FOR: Annexation to the Dixon Community Fire Protection District of Lee and Ogle Counties

AGAINST: Annexation to the Dixon Community Fire Protection District of Lee and Ogle Counties

(Back of Ballot)

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING GETS ACTION

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-676: The Rev. Isaacs, president of his Metropolitan Ministerial Association.

"Dr. Crane," he telephoned, "we are having an all-day seminar on 'Pulpit and Parish Problems.'"

"Could you come out to deliver our banquet address?"

"We'd like to have you stress the pastor as a counselor."

"But you can add a few of your terse criticisms of poor pulpit sermonizing, too."

Either-Or

Pastoral counseling is a superb fringe benefit of every pulpit orator.

But it should never become a substitute for topnotch sermonizing!

Alas, many stodgy pulpit speakers, when they see more vacant pews each Sunday, then try to compensate by becoming addicts of private counseling with parishioners.

"Preaching," said that great pulpiteer, Harry Emerson Fosdick, "is personal counseling on a group scale."

So a topnotch orator in the pulpit can eliminate the need for hundreds of length private interviews! Thus, sermonizing is economically more efficient.

Jesus gave a great deal of personal advice to His Apostles, as well as to Mary and Martha.

But Christ focused primarily on sermonizing!

Pastoral counseling has often become a modern clerical fad.

And it is very inflating to the ego of clergymen who can't bring new converts to the altar by evangelical preaching.

Besides, it sometimes covers vicarious sexual titillation to young clergymen as well as those in the male climacteric.

For when a divorcee confesses her intimate sexual problems to the clergyman, he thus functions much like a "Peeping Tom" but without the public censure the latter receives.

For, under the guise of marital counseling, the pastor becomes at least an "ear witness" to all sorts of erotic deviations, and meanwhile retains his high respect by thus attempting to resolve marriage dilemmas.

This is a neat subterfuge that many clergymen subconsciously "sense" yet don't publicly put into words.

My expose of such counseling is not a blanket indictment of much pastoral counseling with parishioners, but merely an attempt to prevent a stodgy pulpiteer from bolstering his deflated oratorical ego by wanting to function in a semi-medical manner.

In fact, poor sermonizers often try to belittle by faint praise such great platform orators as Rabbi Samuel Silver, Dr. Peale, Bishop Sheen, Oral Roberts, Dr. McBurnie et al.

They they try to fatten their own ego by citing the 10 or 12 hours of post-graduate study at mental institutions and psychopathic hospitals.

Personal counseling may require many hours of a clergyman's time per patient, for patients wander around in excess verbiage and often have no serious problem, anyway.

They merely enjoy usurping some of the pastor's time in getting verbally patted on the back.

Obviously, clergymen should be available to all who need such private advice, but should insist, as part of their counseling technique, that the patient first write out his problem in full; then join the 30-day Compliment Club adventure into extorsion.

Serious patients will do so, but those with flimsy problems will not, so this efficient strategy weeds out the 90 per cent who don't deserve your valuable time.

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and use it to reduce the demands for counseling.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

The Doctor Says:

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Almost a year ago my son was bitten by a dog on the side of his face. He was just a baby then and I was told by different people it would clear within a few months, and if I would put vitamin E on it, it would disappear.

The bite marks are still there

For Friday, Feb. 14, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 You're likely to run into some snags you'll find very disturbing. Don't vent your rage on innocent bystanders.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Others will be palming-off their responsibilities on you if they think they can get away with it. Watch out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Avoid gatherings where you feel uncomfortable with the persons involved. Stick to the crowd you're familiar with.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 You have a slight tendency to try to run the affairs of others. This will not please certain people.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Don't try to impose philosophical or political views on those who think in different patterns. It will stir up a hornet's nest.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 You will find yourself pressed a bit the next few days by obligations you've overlooked or failed to attend to.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Partnership situations will require all the tactful handling you're capable of if you want to keep peace today and tomorrow.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Be sensible about matters relating to health the next few days. Don't burden yourself with more chores than necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 Steer clear of risky or speculative ventures the next few days. Something for nothing ain't gonna come your way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 There are some pressures building up on the home front. Don't let them throw the family into turmoil. Keep your cool.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 You have some very strong opinions about certain issues that are best kept to yourself till a calmer view prevails.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 Take extra pains to be a bit more security-conscious about finances and possessions. Don't deal with those of questionable reputation.

The new and daring will hold special appeal for you this year. You'll pursue inventive interests with fervor. Much good will come to you if you zero-in on the right venture.

in the form of pit holes for each toothmark. Vitamin E hasn't seemed to help. Would you tell me if vitamin E really works for this type of thing and if the pits in his face will ever surface? I don't mind scars, but the pit holes really look bad.

DEAR READER — There are some enthusiastic reports about vitamin E and scars and other skin problems. In some cases skin conditions related to a dry skin are helped because the vitamin E is in an oil base. The oily preparation acts as a skin moisturizer. This will soften some scars, but you can get the same results from any good lubricant.

Don't expect vitamin E, or the lubricant it may be dissolved in, to do anything for the scars and pits from the dog bite on your boy's face. You should see a good plastic surgeon. He can no doubt remove the more obvious scars and correct the pit holes that you are worried about. He can judge, from seeing your boy, the best time to do the procedure.

The danger of expecting miracles from vitamin E is that it will lull a person into failing to get proper treatment when it is most effective for a medical problem. In short, false hope can be harmful. In this case, though, I would guess your boy is young enough that you can get maximum benefit from good plastic surgery with good results.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In your column you pointed out that ground beef might be ground in the same grinder as pork, which must be well cooked to prevent trichinosis. You suggested that it is better to buy beef and grind it at home, presumably to eat raw. However, you said that all meat, including beef, should be properly cooked. Does this mean that very rare beef could be injurious?

DEAR READER — I must reluctantly agree that all meat should be well cooked and do not endorse eating raw meat, including beef.

You can more safely eat beef that is cooked, but still slightly pink, than you can pork. The reason is that pork has to be cooked until there is no pink color to be sure the trichinosis is killed. Trichinosis is not a problem in beef and cooking to medium is usually safe. I would be concerned about "very rare" beef.

Fortunately much of the danger in beef is from food contamination and affects the surfaces. Cooking destroys most of these germs. Even so, I think cooking to medium will help protect you from the possibility of some infectious agents that occur even in beef animals.

It was not my intent to recommend eating raw ground beef when I recommended grinding the beef at home, but rather to avoid the additional problems of possible pork contamination and trichinosis unless very well cooked.

Area roundup

Swimming
The Dixon Dukes aquatic team lost a pair of close decisions — 43-40 to Freeport on Saturday and 40-36 to LaSalle-Peru on Monday — at the Dixon YMCA pool. Dixon had five firsts in the meet versus Freeport as Mike Boyer had two wins, Tom Hill and Dennis Shaffer added one apiece while the 200-yard medley relay team of Hill, Boyer, Shaffer and Bob Foster also recorded a triumph.

The relay squad was timed in 2:00.7. Boyer took the 50-yard free style in :24.6 and the 100-yard breast stroke in 1:10.1. Hill took the 100-yard back stroke in 1:10.9 while Shaffer won the 100-yard butterfly in 1:13.5.

Jim MacRunnels and Mike Lally finished second and third, respectively, behind Mark Penticoff in the 200-yard free style. The winning time was 2:11.5. Foster was third behind Boyer in the 500-yard. Freeport's Garrity took the diving with 126.15 points. Janet Walker was second and Lally third.

Tom Wright of Freeport was timed in 1:07.2 in winning the 100-yard free style. Scott Swan was second and Leroy Rustad fourth for the Dukes. Penticoff also took the 500-yard free style (5:54.8) with MacRunnels third and Derry Sheridan fourth. Jim French was fourth in the 100-yard back stroke and Foster fourth in the 100-yard breast stroke.

The 400-yard free style relay squad of MacRunnels, Swan, Lally and Rustad was second while Jerry Gaul, Sheridan, Ed Deets and Brian Douglas combined for fourth.

Boyer took the 50-yard free style and the 100-yard breast stroke against L-P. Hill won the 100-yard back stroke and Shaffer captured the 200-yard individual medley. The L-P squad of Dimond Loveland, McNally and Webster took the 200-yard medley relay with Hill, Boyer, Shaffer and Foster second plus Rustad, French, Swan and Dunham third.

Wiese of La Salle-Peru won the 200-yard free style with MacRunnels second and Lally third. Hill was third in the 200-yard individual medley and Foster third in the 50-yard free. L-P's McNally took the 100-yard butterfly with Shaffer third. Wiese won the 100-yard free with Lally second and Swan third.

McNally won the 500-yard free with MacRunnels second and Sheridan fourth. Rustad was fourth in the 100-yard back stroke and Foster third in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Green Bay Packer linebacker Ted Hendricks pilfered five passes and blocked seven kicks during the 1974 season. Hendricks paced the Packers in interceptions. Willie Buchanan finished second with four while Al Matthews and Ken Ellis grabbed off three apiece. As a team, the Packers collected 23 interceptions, the most in any season since 1967, their last championship when they had 26.

To win Upstate Illini title Eagles slip past Demons

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor
LEAF RIVER—Ask any basketball coach before the season begins what the prime ingredient is to have a successful campaign and chances are he will reply "balance."

Balance denotes a close ratio in both scoring and rebounding. Any coach knows the better balanced his offensive attack is, the less pressure can be placed on any one individual.

Balance Can Do
The Franklin Center Eagles know what balance can do. The Eagles copped the initial Upstate Illini Conference title, here, Wednesday night with a 63-52 decision over the Leaf River Demons. Franklin Center hit only 24 of 67 field goal attempts during the contest for 36 per cent and turned the ball over nine times on charging fouls.

Leaf River fell to 0-9 in conference and 1-16 for the season with the loss, but the victory was anything but a walk-away for the Eagles. Franklin Center hit only 24 of 67 field goal attempts during the contest for 36 per cent and turned the ball over nine times on charging fouls.

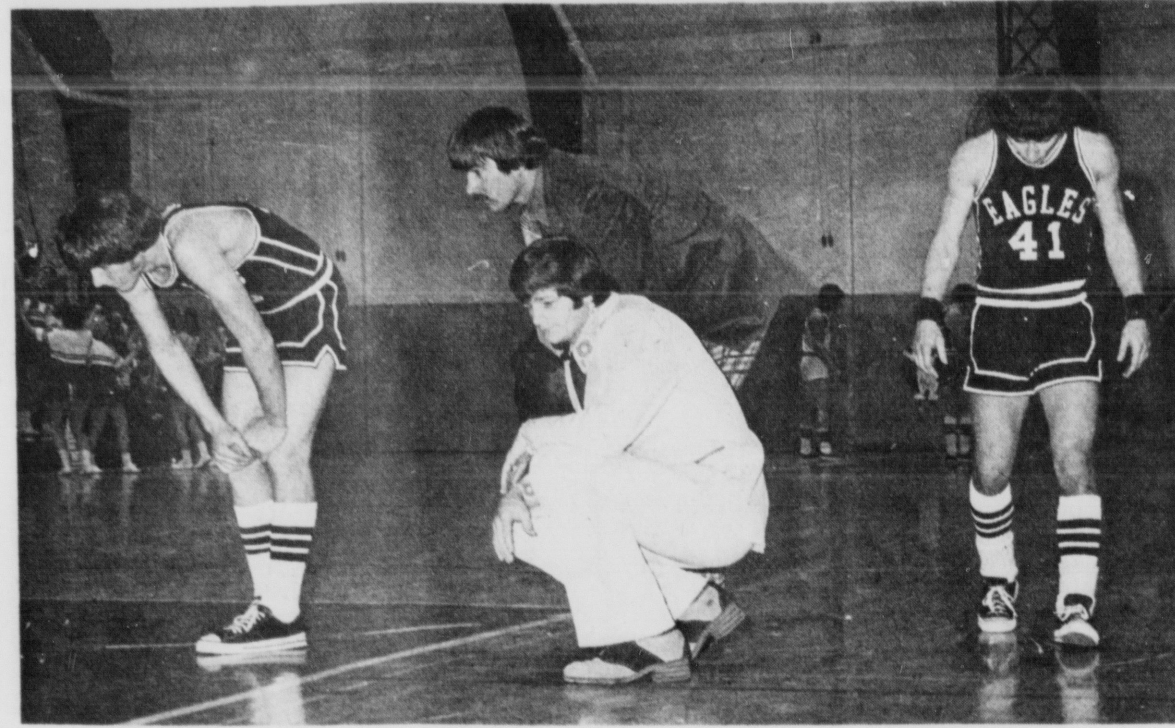

Jeff Jahn, the Eagles' leading scorer and No. 1 point producer in the Upstate Illini, was limited to only one basket from more than three feet before fouling out with 7:26 to go. John Kirchhofer, who popped in 28 points versus Durand on Saturday, got only two field goal attempts in the first quarter and did not score until over 12 minutes had elapsed.

Only One of Nine
Scott Delhotal, Jahn's teammate in the back-court, hit only one of nine shots from the floor in the first half. Jeff Heckman, Franklin Center pivotman, had one basket and three points total for the night. Joe Burke started strong, then collected only five points (three free throws included) in the last three quarters.

Despite all the negative factors, the Eagles still managed to post the victory. "Tonight was just a game of sports," Dennis Kessel, Franklin Center varsity coach stated. "We had something like an 18-4 spurt during the first part of the second quarter and then we had another spurt right after Jeff (Jahn) fouled out."

"Scott (Delhotal) came in and we got five baskets in a row but, other than that, it was an even game. We were sluggish but, in defense of the team, I have to say we didn't practice yesterday because of our conference music festival. You could tell without that practice, we just didn't have the fine edge we would have liked."

"Didn't Play Good"
"We didn't play real good offensively other than the spurts," Kessel continued. "Scott did a fine job when Jeff fouled out in taking over the point and getting our offense moving. Joe Burke also had a fine basketball game. He had 11 points, most of them early when we needed them, and he never stopped hustling."

Burke managed only one basket in the second half, but screened a couple of times to free Kirchhofer for buckets and finished with nine rebounds. Kirchhofer and reserve Kusty Klavenga also pulled down nine boards out of an Eagle total of 41. Five of Burke's and three apiece by Kirchhofer and Klavenga were offensive rebounds.

The lead changed hands seven times in the opening quarter, with Franklin Center holding a 14-13 edge. Brad Miller fired in nine of the Demon markers on three buckets and the same number of charity tosses. Burke had six points on a three-point play plus a trio of free throws for the Eagles. Jahn added two layups (one on an assist by Heckman) while Delhotal also collected a three-point play.

Four for 20
Franklin Center made only four baskets in 20 attempts during the quarter. The Eagles then smoked the nets for nine buckets in 22 shots in the second stanza, including an 18-4 bulge which gave Franklin Center a 32-17 advantage with 2:40 to go.

Jahn tossed in four buckets and a free throw and Kirchhofer tacked on three and two, respectively, for 17 of the 22 Eagle markers. Kirchhofer hooped his first bucket on a 15-foot jump shot, with 3:53 left, and then added an offensive rebound and a fast-break layup (via an outlet pass from Klavenga to Heckman) before the frame expired.

Doug Hayden's basket made it

36-19 in favor of Franklin Center at half. Hayden was called for charging on his drive, the fifth such call against the Eagles in the opening 16 minutes. Leaf River, after hitting only eight of 25 shots (the Eagles had 47) in the first half, drilled 10 out of 16 attempts in the third stanza.

Four Baskets Each
Rick Williams and Miller had four buckets each as the Demons doubled the Franklin Center point total. Williams had his only markers of the game in the quarter on a pair of 20-footers, a 15-footer and a short jumper.

Miller hit from under, a turn-around jump shot, from 15 feet and from 30 feet as the buzzer went off, to slice the Eagle advantage to 46-39. Jay Leisson rebounded his own miss, while Bob Burgett hooked one in for the other Leaf River points.

A pushing foul on Jahn, with 7:26 left, caused the junior guard's departure with Delhotal filling in. After Heckman picked off a pass, Delhotal drove and banked home a two-pointer with 6:02 to go. Heckman followed by just getting his driving attempt past the defensive efforts of Miller, to make it 50-39.

Delhotal Scores
Another basket by Delhotal, in which he pulled up rather than charged Burgett, drew the foul from the Demon player. Delhotal swished the free throw and then potted a 15-footer after Heckman made another key steal. Kirchhofer used a Burke screen for two points which gave Franklin Center a 57-39 lead.

Leaf River outscored the Eagles 13-6 down the stretch, as Miller had four points while Tom Barber and Rich Lauer had a bucket apiece. Miller led all scorers with 21, based on eight baskets and a handful of free throws. Leisson was next with nine. Miller also hauled down nine rebounds. The Demons finished with 23 out of 55 field goal efforts.

Delhotal paced a balanced Eagle scoring column with nine points in the final quarter, to end with 16. Jahn had six baskets from close range (and one from the key) to finish with 15 points. Kirchhofer contributed 14, while Burke tossed in 11.

The Eagles are now idle until Saturday night when they host Paw Paw in a non-conference contest. The conference crown is the second consecutive one for Franklin Center after the Eagles walked off with the now-defunct Northwest Seven championship last year.

Drug use is down in NFL

EDITOR'S NOTE: Professional football is beset by problems in the courtroom and on the playing field. Commissioner Pete Rozelle discussed them in a wide-ranging interview from his Park Avenue office. In the second of a three-part series, the subject is drugs.

By WICK TEMPLE
and CRAIG AMMERMAN
AP Sports Writers
NEW YORK (AP) — The words ring out from the literature of the day. Dave Meg-sey wrote about it. So did Pete Gent. And Roxie Ann Rice. Drugs and football players mix often, say they and others. The Sunday afternoon hero may be on an upper, a downer, a pill, a powder.

A congressional committee has looked at it, as have countless former FBI agents who now snoop for football management. Their conclusions have never reached the public, but every time some official says drug use is minimal some player or former player will say it's high.

The latest charges were leveled by Miss Rice, a 19-year-old St. Louis woman who posed in a two-month odyssey as a journalist and doctor from Ghana. Her charges were completely discredited by federal drug agents.

But the problem remains. Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who sits at the pinnacle of the National Football League, said in an interview in his Park Avenue office here that he believes drug use by football players is way down, at least while they work.

But Rozelle does not minimize what is one of the sport's biggest problems. He does not believe that all is well, or that it always has been. Here is one exchange from the interview:

Q: Do you believe, at least at one point in football, that there were a lot of amphetamines taken by players before games?

A: Our study, and information that we got, indicates that there probably were. I know that was a conclusion reached by (U.S. Rep.) Harley Staggers' committee, with whom we had a number of private meetings and shared information.

Rozelle believes that since that 1971 study the use of amphetamines and other uppers has appreciably decreased in the NFL.

Rozelle acknowledged that keeping track of drugs such as marijuana, cocaine and heroin which NFL players might use in their private lives was impossible, and beyond the authority of the league. He said football players were a part of contemporary society and certainly vulnerable to drug pressures.

Here is another exchange from the interview:

Q: Do you think the percentage of football players that perhaps use marijuana would be higher, or lower, or the same as other young men their ages?

A: I would just have to guess, but I would have to assume it would be the same or less. They're coming out of this culture in college and joining us and so you can figure it's about the same. On the other hand, I think a lot of them are cognizant of the demands made on them in this sport and how, for their future and that of their teammates, it's important that they be in proper condition. So for that reason, I think you might theorize that it might even be somewhat less than contemporaries of theirs in other fields. I do not think it would be more; the same or less.

Rozelle said the NFL tries to stay ahead of drug problems by "staying close to the clubs, urging them to have the best possible medical supervision of all their activities and having a reputable doctor who's skilled and who goes on the line."

The league requires reports of all drug purchases by its clubs, and it employs private detectives—mostly former FBI agents—in each league city. These men earn an estimated $250,000 a year from the NFL to check drug allegations and do other detective work for the league.

The league also employs its own drug expert to read the audits from each team and advise them of what special steps they should take.

"I think that steps we've taken, both in counseling the players and the clubs and in calling for complete disclosure of the clubs' drug purchases and drug inventories, have helped a great deal," Rozelle said.

Breast Cancer Health Quiz

TENTH IN A SERIES:

Q:
What About Examination by a Physician?

ANSWER: It can't be denied that the hands of an expert physician are most valuable in evaluating the breast. It is also very important to realize that the earliest stage of a cancer may not be associated with a lump that can be felt at all, by the woman or by her physician.

At this early stage, many of these cancers can be detected in other ways—by mammography or thermography.

MAMMOGRAPHY is examination of the breast by X-ray. Two views are taken, one up and down and one from side to side. This permits practically all the breast to be examined. The examination is painless, quick and convenient. With new films and techniques, it is safe to start X-ray studies at any age.

THERMOGRAPHY is another method used in a complete breast examination. It is painless, very quick and uses no X rays. The Thermograph is a device which picks up the heat rays as they come out of the breast and translates them into a photographic image.

A complete examination by a physician is advised once a year for all women over 35. This should include mammography if the doctor feels it is necessary.

How to Get Your Breast Cancer Booklet
From Our Newspaper

The question and answer guidelines in this series are taken from "Breast Cancer Is Curable—Early Detection Is the Key"—now available to our readers at 75 cents per copy (3 for $2). The booklet is an authoritative, easy-to-follow 32-page condensation of Dr. Philip Strax's new hard-cover book just published at $5.95 by Harper & Row. The American Cancer Society recommends it as a comprehensive, step-by-step life-saving guide.

75 cents each (3 for $2) including postage and handling. Add sales tax.

Fund drive underway for weight machine

WALNUT—The "W" Club at the High School has started efforts to raise money this year to pay for the Universal Gym weight machine obtained last spring. The club must raise nearly $2,000 to pay off the weight machine. The universal is being used by both male and female athletes at the high school, and the physical education classes. The machine is also being used by those adults, and grade school students in the community who have desired to utilize the facility.

At the grade school gym on Saturday there will be a basketball game matching the high school faculty against the grade school faculty, staff and board. Half-time activities will include a gymnastics exhibition by the G.A.A., and a drawing for two $25 (cash) door prizes.

High school students may purchase chances for cash door prizes at the high school from "W" Club members, the home games with Dunlap and Elmwood, and during the first half of the game on Saturday. Adults and grade school students can purchase chances during the home games with Dunlap and Elmwood, and during the first half of the faculty game.

Admission will be $1 for adults and students over 12 years of age. Students under 12 will be admitted for 50 cents. An individual does not need to be present to win and each purchase will be included in both prize drawings.
